

NEWS! At the Toronto Botanical Garden, during day hours, the first time offering of:

CKLA 300 Landscape Design Communications and Theory

The course begins by exploring the use of the line drawing including the landscape plan, sections and elevations. It moves into the introduction of basic methods of designing landscape spaces and composing site content. Organizing systems include the grid and form composition.

14 in-depth and information-packed classes, include the following:

- The various types of Landscape drawings.
- How to measure a site and draw an accurate base plan to scale.
- The techniques of preparing presentation landscape plans using free-hand drawing techniques and drafting equipment.
(no prior drawing experience required!)
- Landscape Concept Plans, complete with title blocks and architectural lettering.
- Drawing Cross-sections and Elevations.
- Colouring landscape drawings.
- The Landscape Design Process.
- The garden Functional diagrams.
- Principles of Landscape Design.
- Form Composition and Visual Themes.
- A Landscape Design project.

Note: This course is delivered in a lecture/studio format.

Duration: 42 Hours, Tuesdays, 10 am to 1 pm, January 12 to April 13.

Fee: $583

Instructor:

Enza Schembre has been practicing the profession of landscape architecture for over 25 years. Her career and abilities have enabled her to work in some of the province's most respected consulting firms, including Acme Environmentals Landscape Design. She has worked in varied capacities including traditional landscape architecture and urban design firms, a multi-disciplinary engineering/planning consulting firm and design/build companies. Enza is a graduate of Ryerson's Landscape Architecture program. She brings professional experience and infectious enthusiasm to her graphic and design classrooms. Her teaching methodology encourages all students to develop their own individual strengths and drawing styles. Enza is a firm believer that "everyone can draw!"

Below is the link for course registration:

http://ce-online.ryerson.ca/ce_2009-2010/calendar/default.aspx?id=5§ion=course&mode=course&ccode=CKLA%20300

For more information about the Landscape Design Certificate program and courses, the instructors and student testimonials, visit: www.ryerson.ca/ce/landscape